DECODE YOU

9 Planets. 5 Elements. 1 You.

What if you could see yourself from a perspective you've never explored before?

Why do you react differently from others? Why do certain patterns repeat in your relationships? Why do your energy, preferences and responses change with circumstances?

DECODE YOU brings together planetary symbolism, the five elements and traditional Indian knowledge to help you understand yourself through a new lens.

The purpose isn't just to know more about yourself. It's to notice what you hadn't noticed before.

THE REALISATION

You start to see yourself with new clarity.

Understand the patterns. Discover yourself.
Live with greater awareness.

THE PLANETARY BLUEPRINT

Your life has patterns. What might they reveal?

In Vedic astrology, the nine planets represent different dimensions of human experience, from thinking and communication to emotions, discipline, desire and purpose.

Their traditional symbolism offers a framework for looking at your tendencies, relationships and recurring life themes.

You'll explore:

- Why different people approach the same situation differently.
- How planetary combinations are traditionally interpreted.
- How to reflect on your own strengths, challenges and responses.

THE REALISATION

You may begin to recognise patterns in your behaviour that you have lived with, without ever examining them.

THE FIVE ELEMENTS

You don't have to function like everyone else.

Traditional Indian systems use the five elements to describe the qualities of nature and of human experience.
They also describe three broad body types.

Exploring these frameworks helps you understand your own tendencies, preferences and needs.

You'll discover:

- Which body type you lean towards.
- Why one routine suits you while another feels hard to sustain.
- How to observe your body's responses instead of comparing yourself with others.

THE REALISATION

Wellbeing becomes more meaningful when you understand your own tendencies, rather than following what works for someone else.

YOUR EVERYDAY LIFE

Small changes begin with a better understanding of yourself.

What you eat, when you rest, how you structure your day and how you respond to the seasons all shape your daily experience.

You'll explore:

- Which hours of the day suit work, eating, rest and sleep.
- How each season can prompt you to rethink food, activity and rest.
- How the six tastes help you bring variety and balance to your diet.
- How traditional food-combination principles can inform your choices, without turning eating to a list of rigid rules.

THE REALISATION

You leave with ideas you can apply to everyday decisions, not just concepts to remember.

BEYOND KNOWLEDGE

Understanding is the beginning.
Experience makes it personal.

You'll see how traditional systems relate the five elements to the body, including how the hands and fingers are read.

Through guided sound practice and chanting, you'll try simple techniques linked to traditional energy-centre practices. You'll also take away simple daily routines and practices.

The emphasis is on trying, observing and reflecting, not accepting something just because it is called tradition.

THE REALISATION

You move from hearing about an idea to noticing how it feels, and deciding whether it has a place in your own routine.

BRING IT TOGETHER

One framework. A new perspective on yourself.

The nine planets offer one traditional lens. The five elements offer another. Body type and daily practices connect these ideas to everyday life.

DECODE YOU brings them together in one guided experience.

You don't need prior knowledge. You don't need to accept anything on faith. You only need curiosity and a willingness to explore.

You'll leave with a framework to understand your tendencies, reconsider everyday habits, and keep exploring how traditional knowledge connects with your own experience.

Because the greatest value isn't in memorising more information. It's in recognising something about yourself, and deciding what to do with it.
